THE Numb. 153.

VIRGINIA GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Friday, June 29, to Friday, July 6, 1739.

Extract of a Letter from Madrid, March 17.

'THE King being diſpleaſed with the Conduct of the Marqueſs de Terranova, Secretary of State for the Affairs of the Indies, the Marine, and Finances, his Majeſty ſignified to him on the 9th Inſtant, That he thought proper to diveſt him of his Employments; but that, thro' an Effect of his Roial Goodneſs, he granted him a Penſion of 1000 Piſtoles per Annum, with the Title of Counſellor of the Hazienda, or Chamber of Accompts." 'Don Joſeph de la Quintana, (one of the Spaniſh Plenipo's) who is put in the Room of the Marqueſs de Terranova, has iſſued the neceſſary Orders for increaſing the Number of our Men of War, whenever we ſhall think proper, and reinforcing the Squadron actually fitted up at Cadiz, which conſiſts of 10 Sail. Orders have alſo been iſſued for compleating our Land Forces.'

Extract of a Letter from Cadiz, dated March 17. N. S.

'Laſt Week arrived here the 3 Men of War, the Galga, the Paloma, and the San Franciſco Xavier, with the San Bruno Merchant-Man, from Buenos Ayres, which they left the 27th of Auguſt laſt, and the River of Plate the 27th of November, and came in 105 Days. The 2 Men of War who remain'd in that River, were careening, and may be expected here in June. Two others that have lain ready here ſome Time, we reckon will ſoon be diſpatched, and are to carry over a new Governor. The Cargo brought by the Men of War and St. Bruno, is 1,317,520 Pieces of Eight, 7960 Marks of wrought Plate, 3344 Piſtoles, 1203 Ounces Ingots and wrought Gold, 29,908 Hides in the Hair, 1309 Arroves of Vicuna Wool, 64 ditto Alpaga Wool, 61 Quintals of Elephant's Teeth, and 184 Barrels of Tallow. Some Ships were blown out of our Bay two Days ago by a violent Levant Wind, which ſtill continues. Out of the 3 Men of War and Regiſter Ship, 200 of thoſe Ships Company had died in the Paſſage, and 400 were brought or bringing aſhore ſo ſickly, that few it was thought would recover; and if they had tarry'd out a Week longer, moſt of the People had periſh'd, their Proviſions and Water being near exhauſted.'

Letter from Venice, March 25.

'According to ſome private Letters from Conſtantinople, the Marqueſs de Villeneuve, the French Embaſſador there, has complain'd, in a very ſerious Manner, of the little Succeſs he has met with in his Endeavours to bring about a Peace between the Emperor, Ruſſia, and the Grand Seignior; upon which, the Grand Vizir declared to his Excellency, "That ſince "the laſt Conditions of Peace offered by the Grand Seignior had been rejected, his Highneſs would condeſcend "to make new Propoſitions; that he therefore entirely "dropt the Demand he had made of the Imperial Walachia, and Part of Servia; and conſented, at the "ſame Time, either to reſtore Orſova to the Emperor, "or to raze its Fortifications, upon Condition that his "Imperial Majeſty ſhall engage himſelf to reſtore to the "Porte, Temeſwaer, and all that Part of the Bannat "which reaches from the River Temes to the Frontiers "of Walachia, including the Towns or Poſts of Werſchnitza, Vipalanka, Meadia, and Cornia, and in gene-"ral all the Dependencies of the Bannat of Temeſwaer; "that his Highneſs nevertheleſs, excepts Carenſebes, "which the Emperor may fortify, in order to cover the "Frontiers of Tranſilvania; and that the Grand Seignior will cede to his Imperial Majeſty a certain Terri-"tory in Turkiſh Walachia, which lies very convenient "to be annexed either to Tranſilvania, or Imperial Wa-"lachia." 'The Grand Vizir, in making theſe new 'Propoſitions, held a Chart in his Hand, wherein he 'ſhewed to the Marqueſs de Villeneuve the Diſtrict 'which his Highneſs demands, and the Territory in 'Turkiſh Walachia he conſents to cede to the Emperor; 'at the ſame Time, aſſuring his Excellency, that his 'Maſter would not, even after the Loſs of a Battle, make 'the leaſt Alteration in thoſe Conditions. The Vizir 'made no Myſtery of the Plan of Operations which he is 'to execute this Campaign, but told him plainly that he 'would march directly to Belgrade with the greateſt 'Part of his Army, in order to undertake the Siege of 'that Town.'

Letters from the Hague ſay, that an Embaſſador there was, with good Grounds, ſuſpected of having defeated the Negociation of Count d'Uſefeldt with the States General, for a Loan of ſix Millions, in Favour of the Emperor: Many Circumſtances confirm this Opinion. Whether however, this be Fact or not, that Embaſſador, diſguſted at the Obſtacles he has hitherto met with upon this Subject, has deſir'd the Court of Vienna to permit him to abſent himſelf for ſome Time, under Pretence that the Waters of Careſſbad are neceſſary for the Preſervation of his Health.

They write from the Hague, that the States General growing impatient with the various Reaſons alledged by the Court of Spain for delaying to reply to the laſt Anſwer of their High Mightineſſes, ſome Miniſters of the Government have very lately deſir'd the Marqueſs de St. Gilles, to uſe his Intereſt with the Marqueſs de la Quadra to engage him to expedite ſuch Reply; to the end, that Endeavours might be uſed, without Delay, for determining in a ſubſtantial Manner, all Differences between the two Nations upon Affairs relating to Commerce. As the Court of Madrid ſtrenuouſly ſupports that the Inhabitants of Curaccao are notorious for carrying on a clandeſtine Trade upon the Coaſts of the Spaniſh Dominions, and therefore, ought to be viſited, it's foreſeen that there will be yet great Conteſts before this Affair comes to a Determination.

People here, of the greateſt Conſideration, are much alarm'd with the entire Reconcilliation, and ſtrict Union, of the two Branches of the Houſe of Bourbon; and a double Marriage they apprehend will not only cement a Friendſhip between theſe Branches, but alſo prompt them to execute the vaſt Deſigns they are ſaid to have form'd. France and Spain, ſay they, may, and probably will, give to the Infant Don Philip the Dutchies of Parma and Placentia, with the Kingdom of Corſica; the Conſequence of which will be, that in a ſhort Time theſe Territories will be thought too inconſiderable for a Prince who has married the eldeſt Daughter of France. To remedy this, and in order to give the Don more Elbow-Room, Attempts will be made to obtain him the Mantuan, with what yet remains to the Emperor of the Milaneſe. Should ſuch Attempts ſucceed, (and who can hinder them from ſo doing?) his Imperial Majeſty muſt be driven entirely out of Italy. They further ſuggeſt, that it may happen, and probably will, that at the Death of the Emperor, the Grand Duke of Tuscany, demanding the Succession of the House of Austria, and aspiring to the Imperial Throne, will, in order to obtain these Ends, have Occasion for the Aid and Support of the Crown of France, which it will scarcely be prevail'd upon to give him without a valuable Consideration, and will then have a favourable Opportunity of obliging him to quit Tuscany. Be this, however, as it will, every body foresees, that sooner or later, the Power of France cannot fail of being greatly detrimental to the House of Austria; and 'tis for this Reason, that some few of the Ministers of the Imperial Court endeavour, by shewing the Benefit and Usefulness that would accrue to his Imperial Majesty from re-uniting with the Maritime Powers, to weaken the Party in the Ministry that is devoted to the Court of France.

Hanover, March 27. Since the Receipt of our last Letters from London, we look upon the King of Great-Britain's approaching Journey to this Electorate as a Thing concluded upon. The Recruits which the Duke of Brunswick Wolfenbuttle has raised in his Dominions, in order to compleat the Body of Troops he has in Hungary, began their March for that Kingdom the 24th Instant.

Hamburgh, April 3. They write from Berlin, that the King of Prussia, as Marks of his great Esteem for the late Baron de Grumkow, has wrote a most gracious Letter to the Dowager, promising her and the Family his Protection; and has given her Son, the present Baron, now about Fourteen Years old, a Pair of Colours. The Affliction of this Family has been augmented by the melancholy News it has received of the unhappy Death of the Baroness de Kulan, Daughter to the late Baron de Grumkow. This Lady was coming from her Seat to Berlin, in order to condole with Madam her Mother; and passing the River Elbe in a Ferry Boat, at a Time when there happened a great Storm, the Coach Horses took Fright, leap'd into the River, and drew the Coach after them; so that the Baroness and here eldest Daughter were both drown'd.

Kiel, April 3. The Duke of Holstein Gottorp being willing to give a Proof of his Attachment to the Emperor, has resolv'd to raise 1000 Men in his Territories for the Service of his Imperial Majesty in Hungary. This Prince has discover'd that he has a Claim to the Dutchies of Juliers and Bergue, being, it seems, descended from a Daughter of William Duke of Cleves, and of Juliers and Bergue.

From the Paris A-la-Main, April 8.

Our Letters from Genoa of the 25th of last Month, say, that they have received Advice from Bastia of the 14th, that the French Troops are actually battering the Post of Monte-Maggiore, and that a great Body of Rebels have advanced towards that Place; but that they have had no positive News of what passes there, on account of the contrary Winds, which have hindered any Ships from coming from Calvi. They add, that a Party of the Rebels came in the Night, and set fire to a House in the Pieve of Nebbio, but the Inhabitants taking the Alarm in Time, the Fire was soon extinguished; since which, they have been offered a Body of Troops to protect them from any Insults, and, at the same Time, make a Diversion on that Side in order to facilitate the taking of Monte-Maggiore; but they refused this Offer, and made Answer, that they were able to defend themselves. According to these Advices, the Body of Rebels marching to the Relief of Monte-Maggiore amounts to 5000 Men. The Marquess de Maillebois is expected every Day at Bastia.

M. Peter, Titular Bishop of Waterford and Lithmore in Ireland, died a few Days ago, in the Ninety Fourth Year of his Age.

They write from Cadiz, that the Ships from Buenos Ayres are arrived there, and that their Lading consists of 2,600,000 Pieces of Eight, besides other Goods.

The 6th Inst. a Fire broke out here in the Convent of the Nuns of Notre-Dame des Perez, by which Accident the Dutchess de Bethune, who had retired there, perished in the Flames; the Chaplain is burnt to that Degree that his Life is despair'd of; but the Nuns having fled in Time to the Garden, none of them were hurt.

London, March 29. They write from the Hague, that the States General have lately received a Letter from M. Van Hoey, their Ambassador at the Court of France, whereby he acquaints them, that having strongly sollicited the Ministry to give him a positive Answer to the last Memorial which he presented, in Relation to the Renewal of the Treaty of Commerce, the Comptroller-General of the Finances declar'd to him, that the King had no Objection to granting to the Dutch all the Advantages that he could reconcile with the Interest of his own Subjects; and would even consent to renew the Treaty of Commerce with them upon the ancient Footing, but then he very much wish'd that the Republick would, on its Part, contribute in some Sort towards the Ease of the Subjects of France, for that his Majesty had receiv'd Complaints from different Parts of his Kingdom, in Respect to the Customs which were exacted in the United Provinces upon Sugars, Soap, and other Merchandize coming from France; he could not therefore help insisting, that the States General would in such a Manner diminish the said Customs as that they should not be higher than they were in the Year 1690: That as there was so great a Commerce carried on between France and Holland, and such a vast Quantity of Foreign Stuffs carried into, and sold within the Dominions of the Republick, it appear'd surprizing to his Majesty, that Stuffs of the Woollen Manufactory of his Kingdom should in some Sort be prohibited by the Dutch; whilst, at the same Time, they receiv'd a prodigious Quantity of all sorts of Stuffs from another Nation, which were not only worse in Quality, but dearer than those made in France. M. Orri, the Comptroller, likewise touch'd upon the Article of Linen Cloth: He said upon this Subject, that tho' the Interest of the King's Subjects demanded that Hollands should be comprehended in the Prohibition made to Linens coming from foreign Countries, his Majesty had hitherto been pleased to continue the Permission of bringing them into France; he therefore very much desir'd that Cloth and Stuffs made at Lisle and in French Flanders, might, for the future, be permitted to be brought into the United Provinces. M. Orri deliver'd to M. Van Hoey, a Memorial conformable to this Representation. It's just now reported here, that about 8 Battalions of French Troops are approaching towards the Frontiers upon the Meuse.

Letters from Lisle say, that the Conferences there go on but slowly, the French Ministry being very indifferent whether a Regulation of Limits is made or not.

Letters from Vienna say, that the Imperial Court is extremely disconcerted in its Plan of Operation against the Turks, by the Impossibility of obtaining the 30,000 Russian Troops which had been promis'd it. Very severe Reproaches have been made upon this Subject to M. Brakel, the new Russian Minister. As he has been given to understand by all the Discourse which he has had since his Arrival at Vienna, that the Imperial Court is exceedingly discontented with the Conduct of that of Petersbourg, and that Consequently his Residence at Vienna will be disagreeable to him, he earnestly wishes to return speedily to Berlin. In the mean time the Court of Russia, to demonstrate its Readiness to supply the Emperor with the Money offer'd as an Equivalent for the Troops which were to have been sent to his Assistance, and to remove the Suspicion that Count d'Ostein, had raised to the Contrary, has order'd its Bankers immediately to pay his Imperial Majesty 500,000 Rubles, and the Baron de Keyserlin, who is returning from Petersbourg to Vienna, has it in Charge to negociate 500,000 more at Lipswig, to be afterwards return'd from thence to Vienna. The Imperial Court would nevertheless have preferr'd to this Sum of Money the Assistance of the Russian Troops which have been enured to Difficulties and Hardships; whereas the Recruits and fresh Troops that are sent into Hungary, in order to avoid the Dangers arising from Pestilence, Famine, and the Sword, desert almost as fast as they arrive there.

They write from Amsterdam, that the Promotion of General Officers has met with a fresh Remora. The Opposers of a Stadtholder are so much upon their Guard, and and ſo jealous of every Thing which ſeems to have a Tendency to raiſe the Prince of Orange to that eminent Station, that they have perſwaded themſelves the Condition in the Reſolution of the Province of Frieſland for appointing the Prince General at the next ſucceeding Promotion, is bringing him too near that high Poſt; wherefore the Deputies of the oppoſing Provinces have in ſuch a Manner deferr'd determining any Thing upon this Reſolution, that it's believed they will never conſent to it, they having declar'd, that a Promotion of Lieutenant-Generals being only neceſſary, they could not engage themſelves in any Condition that went further than that. If the Provinces perſiſt in theſe Sentiments, the Promotion may not probably yet take Place.

Defendant, concerning the Right to a ſmall Eſtate at Bletchingly in Surry, under 10l. per Ann. which gives the Poſſeſſor two Votes upon an Election for Members of Parliament. It turn'd upon three Demiſes, wherein their Pedigrees were traced backwards for a great Number of Years; and after long and learned Pleadings by Counſel on both Sides, Mr. Murray, Mr. Wynn, Mr. Lacey, and Mr. Smith, for the Plaintiffs; Mr. Sollicitor-General, Mr. Marſh, Mr. Robinſon, and Mr. Stracey, for the Defendant; a Verdict was given upon two of the Demiſes for the Defendant, and the third was brought in Special. The fallen ANGEL.

SOME mirthful Lads the other Day
A Fancy took to act a Play.
Each choſe the Part that pleas'd him beſt.
Young Phaeton too, among the reſt,
Choſe one ----- he long'd to repreſent
A Meſſenger from Heaven ſent.
As he came ſailing thro' the Air,
His heavenly Errand to declare,
(Whether on Purpoſe, or by Chance,
Is no material Circumſtance.)
O ſad Diſaſter! the Machine
The Hero was ſupported in,
Crack'd on a ſudden from above,
And did irregularly move.
Afraid of what might be th'Event
Of ſuch unlucky Accident,
The Angel cries, " G-d d-n you all!
" Take care, or elſe, by G-d! I fall. "
Juſt as he ſaid, it came to paſs;
And down he fell upon his A----
Which having ſcratch'd, by G-d he ſwore,
He'd never be an Angel more.
